Baseball Fields

Overall Evaluation – Poor Condition

- One of the two fields was unusable due to grass growing over the playing surface.
- Grass needed to be cut on other fields for effective play.
- Grass was growing on the diamonds and there was inadequate athletic mill (baseball infield surface material).
- One of the four player benches was missing.
- There were no scoreboards.

This diamond had weeds and trees growing around the backstop and players' bench. The players' area roof is missing and there were holes in the backstop.

The same diamond's infield was rough with grass growing in it.

The players' bench at this field was completely overtaken by trees and vines. Vines were also growing over the backstop. The infield had long grass.
